ANTI-SLIP SURFACES P/L

30 years

Welcome to the November issue of the Advance Anti-Slip Surfaces newsletter.

Now that Halloween is out of the way, and we're commencing the run towards Christmas, it's a timely reminder that pedestrian safety should still be a priority for everyone.

So why do we need to protect pedestrians with antislip elements?

To prevent costly slips, trips, stumbles, tumbles or falls on any entranceway, stair, step, stairwell, landing, platform, gantry, ramp, walkway, or ladder.

Pedestrians should be able to navigate around any stair, walkway, ramp or landing safely. That's why Advance Anti-Slip continues to lead the way in the nonslip surfaces industry by providing a wider range of products that eliminate the hazards found on so many walking surfaces.

When contemplating the type of non-slip piece that will best fit your safety need, look for factors such as durability, resilience, effective traction, aesthetic properties, element longevity and value for money.

Unlike other types of nonslip products that may crack, become brittle, delaminate, peel or need a long time to cure, Advance Anti-Slip Surfaces Class 1 (Best-In-Class) metal backed, ready to install, antislip products are designed and manufactured to fit and use quickly, so there is no inconvenience to pedestrians that need timely access to that particular stairway or passageway.
